Antioch Scrap Iron Plays Triple Role

Not only have the 172 tons of scrap iron collected through the efforts of the Antioch Salvage committee gone to war by helping to produce fighting equipment, but that portion of it donated by the citizens of this community has other duties to perform.

It was announced this week by C. L. Kutli, chairman of the Salvage committee that the money realized from the sale of the donated scrap was invested in $250.00 worth of government bonds. Thus the government will now have the use of the money for the duration. So much for role number two.

What about role No. three? When the bonds mature, the committee will use the funds to help disabled World War 2 service men who may need assistance.

According to C. L. Kutli, the bonds are held in trust at the office of the Antioch township clerk.

All donations of scrap in the future will be used for the same purpose.

Mayor George B. Bartlett, head of the defense council, has complimented the members of the salvage committee on its decision in the use of the salvage fund.

Members of the committee are C. L. Kutli, chairman; Mrs. O. G. Cunningham; Barney Naber, Herman Rosing, Dan Sheahan, Ed Vos, and George White.

Selective Service Board No. 3 Feted

A number of Antioch representatives were present at a special program held Tuesday evening by Sharvin post of the American Legion, at the Legion home in North Chicago in honor of the Selective Service board No. 3, Lake county. However, all the Legion posts in the district served by this board were invited to co-operate and all Legion members in the district were invited to attend. All village and city officials and their friends, and men in service home on leave, were also invited.

The Legion posts in the district co-operating were James Catalano post of Grayslake, Lakes Region post of Fox Lake, Admiral Moffet post of Gurnee, the Evans Watkins post of the North Shore, and Antioch post. Lake Villa Store Damaged by Fire

Two Fire Departments Battle Blaze; Damages, $12,000

Charles Peterson's general store, one of the most modern establishments of its kind in this part of the country, suffered damages estimated at about $12,000 in a fire late Tuesday afternoon.

The fire, the origin of which has not as yet been determined, destroyed the store stock and fixtures, badly damaged the brick building, and for a time threatened the B. J. Hooper drug store, the post office and the Lake Villa State Bank.

Lake Villa firemen, under the leadership of Chief Irving Barnstable succeeded in bringing the fire under control and sent a call to the Antioch department to supplement their efforts. Antioch responded with an engine and a tank truck, and the Rescue squad, also sent down a force of men under the leadership of Lt. Herman Rosing.

The joint forces labored from 6 o'clock until nearly 9 before the fire was pronounced out.

The heavy cloud of smoke which the fire sent up over Lake Villa was visible at a considerable distance and resulted in many inquiries as to its cause.

The cause of the fire has not as yet been determined, but it spread so rapidly that the interior of the store was on fire a few minutes after smoke was noticed seeping up through the floor boards from the basement. The building, owned by A. G. Taylor, Waukegan, and the stock were covered by insurance.

A huge wall display, including a map of the world and pictures of Antioch men serving with the armed forces, with tapes leading from the pictures to their present stations, is attracting much interest at Walter Baethke's barber shop. Baethke's cousin, Wilfred Schaefer of Forest Park, was one of the famous "Flying Tigers." He is now at home on furlough.

Morris Pickus, manager of the Antioch Liquor store, also has a display of pictures of service men.

We don't know who's to blame, him or her, but we're sorry to hear about the rift within the lute, etc., but ANYWAY—we've been waiting all our life to hear of a woman "answering back" to one of those "mywifehasleft mybedandboardand Iwillnotberesponsibleforherdebits" ads, and the other day in the Keno. Eve. News classified section we saw where a wife did that little thing. Right under HIS notice was HERS, saying nobody but him ever made any debts anyway, so what?—or words to that effect. She got in the last word, annaahoo.

They say you can't keep an old war horse out of the fray. Be that as it may, former editor John Horan has been dropping in on Thursday afternoons working to lend a little aid in rushing the papers into the mail. Thanks, pal. We do appreciate it!

From the Wkn. News-Sun's "looking backward" col.—"With the elevation of Jim McMillen of Grayslake to the captaincy of the Illinois university football team of 1923, it is interesting to learn that Jim got his start on the gridiron at Waukegan under the tutelage of Coach William J. Rennie. He first came to Rennie's attention in 1919 when he reported for practice at the Waukegan Township High school."

Editor's note: Lt. James McMillen is now in the U. S. Navy, and is stationed at Navy Pier, Chicago, as director of athletic training. Time does fly!

Nothing like borrowing from the next guy. We see where in the Wake of the News in the Chi Trib, someone is worrying about the prospect of having to eat horse meat—a la carte. They said they might do away with the horse, but they balked at the cart. . . . The old grey mare, she ain't what she used to be. . . .

Antioch Man Injured In Cumulative Collision Tuesday Morning in Fog

A three-way automobile collision, a traffic tangle and a number of supplementary near-accidents resulted in the dense fog Tuesday morning when a driver stopped his car on the pavement on Highway 21 just south of Libertyville, to clear his windshield.

John Dupre of Antioch, at 7:30 o'clock, driving south to the Douglas aircraft plant, where he is employed, suffered head injuries when his automobile collided with another, which in turn had collided with the stopped car.

Dupre's car was badly damaged. A policeman on his way to straighten out the traffic tangle narrowly escaped being struck by a large gasoline truck, which took to the ditch to avoid hitting him.

Aside from the three principal cars, none of the others involved were injured.

Charles Hoge is recovering from injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile of which James Main, Lake Villa, was the driver, Sunday at 7:45 p. m. at "bank corner," Lake and Main streets.

Gov. Appoints R. S. Stimson State Mileage Administrator

With the purpose of bringing about still further reductions in the use of state-owned automobiles and trucks, Governor Dwight H. Green has appointed R. S. Stimson, administrative assistant in the bureau of transportation, as state mileage administrator. The Governor pointed out that the use of state cars has already been cut 30% by taking cars out of active service and through car-sharing among state employees, compliance with the 35 mile speed limit and frequent inspection of tires and equipment.

A delegation from the Illinois rubber advisory committee, which was appointed by Governor Green, is in Washington this week to confer with William M. Jeffers, national rubber administrator. The delegation carried a report summarizing the industrial resources and the wealth of raw materials which make Illinois a highly suitable region for synthetic rubber factories.

Number Receiving Old Age Assistance Shows Decrease

For the first time since May, 1940, the number of Illinois citizens receiving old age assistance shows a decrease. The November assistance list contains 150,811 names, compared with 150,972 in October, a drop of 161. Despite this slight decrease, payments increased from $4,123,663 in October to $4,143,716 in November, reflecting the increased cost of living.

In the last month, 1,151 more Illinois families have been added to the list of those receiving aid to dependent children, bringing the total number of families getting this form of help to 24,566. The total sum paid to these families in November was $798,473.

You Never Know—

They say—that you never know how many friends you have until you need them—and judging by that standard, the Antioch News seems to have turned up quite a few during the days of stress that followed Editor-Publisher H. B. Gaston's departure for Rochester, Minn., and an operation, two weeks ago this Friday.

At any rate, the thoughtfulness—and at times very practical help—of those friends has undoubtedly done a great deal to cheer up the editor.

And it sure has cheered up the rest of us, too. Thanks, folks!

Maybe It Just Seemed Colder

It looks as though the song writer is going to get that white Christmas he's been dreaming of...

Which brings up that often-debated question: Were the winters of yester-year really colder than they are now, and snowier, or did they just seem that way?

You know, if you have to ride in an open sleigh for a few miles, it probably seems quite a lot colder by the time you spend an hour or two getting to where you are going, than it does if you can just step into a warm car and be there in 20 minutes or so.

At any rate, what with the gas rationing and so on, we may be given a chance to try out the old ways once again, and see.

Gambling Money Doesn't Last

We remember reading in a book one time—Owen Wister's "Virginian," we think it was—where a man said, "You know, the money I got playing poker never seemed to last. It came easy and it went easy. The only money I ever found I could save was the money I earned."—or words to that effect.

What we're trying to say is, it looks from where we're sitting as though the "gains" for which the war lords have gambled with blood and money are kind of like those "gambling winnings." They don't last.

Even now, they seem to be seeping away from the "conquerors," a little here, a little there.

Perhaps old Ben Franklin was right long ago when he said "Honesty is the best policy." Maybe that goes for nations, too, as well as for just ordinary people.

At least, the honest earnings seem to last longer.

Check Metal Roofing for Winter

An immediate wartime conservation measure is the checking of metal roofing, to protect it against corrosion during the winter months. Any loose places should be well secured by non-rustable nails, or if these are not available, with other nails well painted. In any case, all rusted or corroded spots should be thoroughly cleaned off, and the roofing thoroughly protected by the necessary paint.

★ Under their flying fingers, the vital messages of war speed on to bring the day of final Victory!

SERVING 24 HOURS EVERY DAY

Speeding the urgent messages that help our fighting men and hurt our enemy, messages by hundreds and thousands and millions, aiding the nation's war job and serving the public welfare.

Must Cool Milk

Even though the evenings are getting cooler, dairy specialists remind dairymen that milk must be cooled. Milk plants are alert and watchful in regard to the quality of milk received.

Quiet Optimism

We like an optimist if he only won't be a propagandist.

Irene

When Irene got home from the airplane factory she was good and tired. This was the hour, after work and before dinner, that she always looked forward to. Her private name for it was "My sissy hour." Into it, these days, she packed all the lazy, luxurious little things she loved—things that used to take up a lot more than an hour of her peace-time days. She sat down at the little desk in her room. You could tell quite a lot about Irene from that desk. The water-glass filled with the small bouquet of flowers she sometimes bought on the way home. The paper-weight of pink marble. The thin, crackly blue air-mail stationery. And the big, framed photograph of a young man in a corporal's uniform—as good-looking a man as Irene was pretty. On the blotter pad lay the telegram that had come that morning just as she was leaving for work.

With those long, well-shaped fingers she reached for a sheet of paper. She nibbled the end of her pen for a bit, and then she wrinkled up her nose at the picture of the soldier and began to write, "Dear Mr. Morgen-thau," but the corporal's name was Jackson and she called him Pete.

Her round handwriting spread across the page. "My boy friend is with the A.E.F. in Ireland. He has cabled me fifty dollars with which to buy a diamond ring. I've been thinking it over and decided to buy a War Bond to help Uncle Sam instead. This may help to bring my boy friend home sooner, and then he can help me select my ring."

Slowly she began to sign her name. "Irene —"

(Letter from an actual communication in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Let's all sacrifice as Irene has done. Bring final victory closer with the money you put into War Bonds. Make certain your family budget tops 10 percent by New Year's.

LAKE VILLA

The choir girls enjoyed a dinner party and a social time Monday evening at the home of the church organist, Mrs. Olive Martin. They played airplane bunco and had a very nice time.

Fire of undetermined origin at this writing broke out in the basement of the Peterson store about 5:30 Tuesday evening and the fire department fought vigorously to save the building. The mail bags and important belongings of the post office which is a part of the store, were moved to prevent their loss. Smoke made the fire-fighting very difficult.

Corp. Bernard Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schneider, is enjoying a fifteen-day furlough from his duties at N. Camp Polk, in Louisiana. His fiancée, Miss Elinor Behning, of Grayslake, met him at St. Louis, and they were united in marriage in that city. She will continue her work as telephone operator at Waukegan after his return to camp.

Mrs. Blumenschein and Mrs. Paul Avery, Sr., were in Kenosha Monday on business.

Harry Nickerson who has been devoting all his time to the job of being village marshal, is now giving part time to this work besides doing work in Waukegan.

Mr. and Mrs. Oldsbone, who operated a lunch room on Route 21 south of the village, have gone to the north side of Fox Lake to the former Dering Conservation Dept. of Illinois, who purchased the property.

Because of exceedingly cold weather, blocked driveways and icy streets on the regular meeting day of the Woman's Society of Christian Service with Mrs. Hooper, the meeting was held on Wednesday afternoon of this week. A Christmas party by the group will be held later, so watch for particulars.

A social evening of fun and entertainment will be held at the village hall on Friday evening this week, sponsored by the church board. As people will not be able to travel far for entertainment for social times, why not come Friday evening and enjoy a good time with your neighbors?

There are some in the community who will remember Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Felker, teachers here more than 30 years ago, and for many years have lived at Gary, Ind., where Mr. Felker practiced law. Mrs. Felker has been ill for more than a year and passed away Dec. 2, at the Methodist hospital in Gary.

Mrs. Cecile Blumenschein spent part of last week on a nursing case in Waukegan.

Gas rationing is curtailing driving considerably and as yet very few have been able to get additional amounts.

Mrs. Ruth Haley visited friends and relatives in Chicago the greater part of last week.

Charles Madsen and son, Bob, are working in Kenosha in defense factories.

Cancer Vitamin

Vitamin E, least known of food essentials, appears to check the experimental production of cancer in mice.

Stockpiles like this are needed all over the country so that our Government can plan our armament program—and our mills and plants can deliver the fighting tools!

Get in on the drive that starts today. Get the unused metal out of your cellar, your attic, your garage, your place of business. Without this scrap the Nation's steel mills must shut down, for all new steel is 50% scrap, and the mills have not enough for even 30 days more.

And one more thing. Help to stop the story—spread by innocents and ill-wishers alike—that there is lots of scrap already on hand. They point to junk yards, auto graveyards, and salvage depots that have not been cleaned out, as proof that there is no shortage. Kill this talk before it kills our boys!

In spite of the terrible lack of scrap, here is why you may still find full junk yards and scrap depots—and why they must be kept that way!

1. All scrap must be sorted, stripped, and broken up by scrap dealers before it can be used. Their yards are full because they are busy—preparing your scrap for the mills as fast as they possibly can!
2. Auto graveyards strip autos, keep the usable parts and junk the rest—turning out 450,000 tons of scrap in a typical month. Each must scrap within 60 days as many cars as he buys—that is the law!
3. Scrap collections sometimes have to stay around because the dealers can't handle them all immediately. Even if they could, the mills could not store it all. The local salvage depot is a stockpile—where your scrap is available for instant use as soon as it's needed. And it will be needed!

Remember if these places become empty, the mills shut down—and we lose the war!

So get out your scrap and help your neighbors with theirs. It's the greatest single contribution you can make right now to win the war!

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
Contributed by the Baha'i Group

THE TWO PATHWAYS
"From the time of the creation of Adam to this day there have been two pathways in the world of humanity
—one the natural or materialistic,
the other the religious or spiritual.
The pathway of nature is the pathway of the animal realm. The animal acts in accordance with the requirements of nature, follows its own instinct and desires. Whatever its impulses and properties may be it has the liberty to gratify them; yet it is a captive of nature. It cannot deviate in the least degree from the road nature has established. It is utterly minus spiritual susceptibilities, ignorant of divine religion and without knowledge of the kingdom of God.

"One of the strangest things witnessed is that the materialists of today are proud of their natural instincts and bondage. They state that nothing is entitled to belief and acceptance except that which is sensible and tangible. By their own statements they are captives of nature, unconscious of the spiritual world, uninformed of the divine kingdom and unaware of heavenly bestowals.

"The second pathway is that of religion, the road of the divine kingdom.
It involves the acquisition of praiseworthy attributes, heavenly illumination and righteous actions in the world of humanity. This pathway is conducive to the progress and uplift of the world. It is the source of human enlightenment, training and ethical improvement; the magnet which attracts the love of God because of the knowledge of God it bestows. This is the road of the holy Manifestations of God for they are in reality the foundation of the divine religion of oneness. There is no change or transformation in this pathway. It is the cause of human betterment, the acquisition of heavenly virtues and the elimination of mankind.

"Alas that humanity is completely immersed in imitations and unrealities, notwithstanding the truth of divine religion has ever remained the same."
—'Abdu'l-Baha.

THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD
Blaise Arthur J. Moore of Atlanta, Georgia, says: "In the course of the centuries there have arisen and monstrous wrongs have opposed the march of Christ's kingdom. But the blindness and shortcomings of men have not prevented the light of the gospel from shining into darkened places.
We have traveled in the darkness, but the light seems to be bringing into clearer perspective the distance we have yet to go to reach the goal of a redeemed world.

"In these trying days we are all eager to be of the largest possible service to our church and our nation. We must not overlook the fact, however, that moral and social betterment cannot be found apart from Christ. We who call ourselves Christians are under the desperate necessity of creating a new belief in, and enthusiasm for, the Christian way of life. No other plan holds any real hope for our dis-tricted world. In the midst of all the disintegrating forces which threaten our common life, the Church may live and move in the hearts of men."

"That together we may serve at our best in helping to bring this beautiful ideal to full fruition, the Methodist church of Antioch invites you to share in its work and worship. Public worship at 11 o'clock each Sunday morning. Bring your family and friends.

Household Hints

Rubber gloves used for dish washing and housework will last longer if they are washed before being taken from the hands.

If your bathtub or washbowl has become yellow, they may be restored to whiteness by washing well with salt and turpentine.

Fingermarks on the woodwork are easily removed with a cloth dipped in kerosene. Then wipe off the kerosene with a cloth soaked in hot water.

If you will wash your scrubbing brushes in a solution of strongly salted water after use, they will last much longer and smell cleaner.

To brighten faded carpets or rugs, brush them with a solution of alum and warm water.

India and United States Ties

Official ties between India and the United States have been strengthened. The two countries have agreed to an exchange of representatives and Sir Girja Shankar Baj-pai, a former member of the viceroy's executive council, arrived in November, 1941, as India's first diplomatic representative in any country. As Indian government trade commissioner, Sirdar H. S. Malik, had been appointed in 1938, with headquarters in New York; and in August, 1941, Sir Shanmukhan Chet-ty arrived as head of a newly created Indian Purchasing commission.

Preserve Iron Work for the Duration

With everything made of iron assuming an unprecedented value due to the wartime shortage of metal, iron gates, fences and metal railings call for serious attention in the autumn months to save them from damage or loss by rust. They should be well cleaned of rust spots and dirt, and then thoroughly painted.
This treatment, if properly given,
will protect iron work for the wartime period ahead, in which replacements will be highly difficult if not impossible.

Vitamins

If food prices get too high, housewives are advised to buy enriched flour at five cents a pound, or in a pinch add the flour of soybeans or pennuts, all three rich in vitamins and proteins.

Adequate Food

Plant breeders from Cornell university have been assisting the University of Nanking, China, in a five-year program of crop improvement looking toward a more adequate food supply in that country.

News of the Boys in Service

Pvt. Raymond Willett sends a letter decorated with a "V" for Victory:
Dear Sirs:

"Thanks a million for sending me the Antioch News. It is the first time I really felt near home since I have been away, nearly a month. Oregon is quite a state, but give me good old Antioch. The paper was delayed as I am in the hospital with the flu, and the mail has to be transferred to the hospital.

But all the same, "Thanks a million." I feel better now and am getting well fast.

Merry Christmas and Happy New

A line from Cpl. Hazen—Greetings, good people, and maybe you didn't think that maybe you would be hearing from this part of the country. Anyway, I was back in the village for a short visit last week but for some reason or another, I didn't get a chance to see all the guys and gals that are around the place and so maybe this is one way of saying a bit of a "howdy" to those that I missed.
At that, I did get a chance to see the Honor Roll that is down at the village parking lot and I know the reason why there aren't as many of the faces around that I saw the last time that I was home.

Incidentally, I believe that the last address that you have for me is Buffalo, but since that time, I have been sent down here to the air base at Richmond, Va. And speaking of Virginia, maybe some people like it, but I'll still take the good old north and especially the northeastern section of good old Illinois. But I guess all of us guys that are from a different part of the country are of the same feeling when it comes to the home town and state. One thing that I have noticed about these people down here is the fact that they still think the Civil War is going on and us dam Yankees are all a bunch of spies or something. Could be that they are right, but then maybe some of the old Northerners will be able to show them the error of their ways and change the view-point.

Well, guys, it's all work and very little play for us guys down here so best I get back to work and do a little of the same. So, I'll be seeing you all pretty soon now we hope.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Stiffening Axis Resistance Holds Up Allied Drive on African Strongholds; U. S. Navy Scores Again on Jap Fleet; House Moves to Increase Farm Parity

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, commanding general of the U. S. army ground forces (right), congratulates army officers to whom he has awarded the Order of the Purple Heart. The decorated heroes who were wounded in action against the Axis forces in Africa are, seated left to right, Lieut. Darrel G. Lee, Inglewood, Calif.; Lieut. Leslie Ward Dooley, Athens, Tenn.; and Capt. Ford Alcorn, Boonville, Mo. Standing in background is Brig. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, chief of staff for General McNair.

FARM PRICES: Parity Rate Boost?

Farm parity prices would have to be revised upward 12½ per cent if a bill passed by the house of representatives is eventually enacted into law.

The measure passed by unanimous vote would require the department of agriculture to raise parity prices for all agricultural commodities, to include all costs of labor, including hired hands and farmers themselves.

That such action would be strongly opposed by President Roosevelt in his inflation efforts was indicated by the fact that a similar provision included in the price act amendment last fall was bitterly fought by the administration and finally compromised.

Explaining the provisions of their measure, house agricultural committee members explained that under the existing setup no allowance is now given farmers for their labor costs in fixing price ceilings, in spite of the fact that "farm wage rates were going up daily." The farmers ask no more than "equity treatment," the committee declared. "They know that every manufacturer is permitted to include his labor cost in figuring his costs of production."

TUNISIA:

Naval Phases Disclosed

Naval guns of the British fleet added their power to the arms of the Allied forces pressing hard on the Axis defenders of Tunisia, by sinking four supply transport ships and two destroyers in a convoy carrying supplies and reinforcements to North Africa.

Announcement of the victory came soon after the admiralty and U. S. navy department disclosed that the Allies had lost 13 vessels during the original A.E.F. landings in North Africa. The toll was described as considerably smaller than originally expected.

Included in the United Nations' losses were the British small aircraft carrier Avenger, three destroyers and five lighter vessels as well as five U. S. naval transports.

As the stage was set for the final showdown for control of Tunisia, the German-controlled Paris radio admitted that a British-American column had penetrated to the east coast of Tunis and had advanced between Sfax and Gafes.

With opposing forces concentrating in a narrow coastal area between the cities of Tunis and Bizerte Allied advances had slowed down in the face of strengthening German resistance.

Despite continuing vigilance of Allied sea and air patrols, the Axis had admittedly gained reinforcements. In certain areas they achieved local air superiority. Moreover the fierceness of their attempted counterattacks and the presence of considerable Axis mechanized equipment in the Tebourda-Djedeida area indicated the enemy's unexpected strength.

NO. AFRICA REGIME:

People Will Decide

As evidence mounted that Admiral Jean Darlan intended to make his leadership in North Africa permanent, official Washington reiterated its declaration that the French people ultimately will be the ones to decide who is to rule.

Spokesman for the administration was Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who said laconically that the United States was too busy winning the war in North Africa to worry about reports that Darlan had taken over.

PACIFIC:

U. S. Strength Grows

Offensive actions undertaken by Allied forces in the Pacific war theater had continued to gain momentum.

U. S. naval forces decisively beat off another Jap attempt to regain control of the southern Solomons by sinking nine more enemy ships, including six warships in an engagement north of Guadalcanal. Jap losses included two large destroyers or cruisers, four destroyers, two transports and one cargo ship. The Americans lost a cruiser and reported other ships damaged. Meanwhile American land forces continued their mopping up operations around Henderson airfield.

Indicative of the growing strength of the Allies was the report from Auckland, New Zealand, of the safe arrival of an American expeditionary force so large that it took hours for the de-laden transports to discharge their cargoes of men and supplies. Lean gray warships of the U. S. navy had safely conveyed the transports through Jap-threatened waters.

In New Guinea the tempo of the allied offense against the narrow Jap-held beachheads bordering Buna was stepped up. Allied airmen beat off a Jap naval force attempting to land reinforcements and supplies for the hard-pressed Nipponese and shot down 23 Jap planes. American and Australian troops meanwhile had infiltrated to the outskirts of Buna and had driven down the beach from Gona toward Sanananda, five miles above Buna.

INVESTMENT INCOME: $25,000 Ceiling?

Even as salary freezing regulations were made public throughout the nation, congress was invited by President Roosevelt to put a $25,000 ceiling on net investment income to match the $25,000 ceiling imposed on net salaries by James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization.

Under the existing system, individuals are restricted to gross income from salaries of $97,200 a year, or net income after federal income taxes of $25,000. Income from other sources is not now restricted. Pointing out that there has been widespread criticism against inequalities in the present system, Mr. Roosevelt proposed that identical limitations be put on income from investments.

Such a procedure would mean that an individual's total income from salary, from investments or from both could not exceed $25,000 net or $97,200 gross in any one year.

LABOR PEACE:

Decreed by CIO-AFL

For the first time since the CIO split from the American Federation of Labor in 1935, the two organizations entered into an agreement that opened the way for permanent peace and possible full reunions of the two organizations.

Meeting in Washington special committees of the two labor unions agreed to establish a joint commission to resolve all differences between them. To this agreement, they added a proviso that all unsettled issues should be referred to arbitration.

President Roosevelt had long urged the two groups to submerge their differences for the national welfare. Presidents William Green of the AFL and Phillip Murray of the CIO had publicly stated their desire for peace.

MUSSOLINI:

Whistles in Dark

With powerful American and British armies only a few hundred miles across the Mediterranean from Italy, with northern industrial cities rocked by RAF bombing attacks, and with Prime Minister Churchill's grim warning of future disaster still ringing in his ears, Benito Mussolini delivered an 81-minute harangue to the Fascist parliament.

In essence, the duce's speech was a "whistling in the dark" performance designed to whip up the Italian people's lagging war spirit. His prescription for national morale: "Learn to hate and to cease spreading silly stories and gossip."

Reading extracts from Churchill's speech warning that Italy would be placed under "prolonged, scientific and shattering air attacks," Mussolini said the English leader hoped to undermine the Italian people's resistance. He promised that Germany would reinforce Italy with "powerful contributions" and said "the joint Italian-German defenses will give the raiders a hot reception."

Il Duce revealed that Italy had lost 162 warships and more than 400,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen in the 30 months of war.

RUSSIA:

Headaches for Hitler

Russian strategists concentrated doggedly on the task of rolling out the twin bulges at Rzhev and Vyazma on the far-flung line from Leningrad to Stalingrad as the Red's spectacular offensive continued to push the Nazis back and threaten the entire structure of their winter lines.

Hitler well knew the danger poised by the Russian thrusts at Rzhev. If this key point were taken, his troops in the Leningrad sector to the north would be in peril. And should these forces be trapped or forced to retire to avoid entrapment, then Finland would be left high and dry to make such terms as she could with the victorious Russ.

But Hitler's headaches were not confined to the Rzhev areas. At Stalingrad the Reds captured a strategic hilltop southwest of the city that had dominated the approaches from this direction and had been used for weeks by the Germans for artillery and observation posts.

Southward in the Caucasus, the Nazis faced the threat of disaster for the steadily mounting strength of the Russ placed his control of oil wheat and coal lands in jeopardy.

THUNDERBOLTS:

Make 725 M. P. H.

Hurting through the air faster than any human beings had ever traveled before, two 22-year-old army lieutenants dived their fighter planes at the astounding speed of 725 miles an hour in twin tests of Republic P-47 Thunderbolts.

The two airmen were Lieuts. Harold Comstock and Roger Dyar. Starting their dive at 35,000 feet, the pilots reported the terrific speed froze their control sticks, causing them to resort to emergency cranks to pull the ships out of the dive. Reporting his reactions, Lieutenant Dyar said:

"I had a feeling that any second the plane was going to pull away from me and leave me stranded right there, five miles above the ground."

STOCK SHOW:

'Sub' for International

The war had long before intervened to cancel the International Livestock Exposition, but in outdoor pens in Chicago's stockyards, 6,349 farm animals from 19 states and two Canadian provinces competed for prizes in the Chicago Market Fat Stock show—an exhibition organized to bridge over the period until the International could be held again.

It was a one-way ride for the barnyard champions, for war-time transportation regulations decreed that the steers, hogs and sheep must be moved to the slaughter-house after the show. Gone for the duration was the traditional pageantry attending the exposition since the International amphitheater was taken over by the army last June.

No admission fee was required for the substitute show.

MISCELLANY:

ORAN, ALGERIA: The release of 157 unshaven, ill-fed Norwegian seamen and 50 British naval personnel, all of whom had been interned south of Oran for from nine months to two years, was announced here. An Allied spokesman said they joined another group of 40 Dutch seamen who had been freed previously and that 33 Greeks and Belgians were likewise being released.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Lesson for December 13

THE VALUE OF THE CHURCH TO THE SOCIAL ORDER

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:13-16; Mark 12:13-17; 1 Peter 2:13-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ye are the salt of the earth... Ye are the light of the world.—Matthew 5:13, 14.

Social and political leaders have in the church the strongest influence for good in all the world. One marvels that those who profess to seek the best for humanity, who try every kind of social experiment, who labor with every expedient of man, fail to see and use in full measure the power of Christianity. Perhaps the explanation is that some of these leaders are themselves unsaved men, who do not understand spiritual things, and are not willing to give God the glory. Perhaps in the case of others it is because of ignorance or lack of contact with the church.

Whatever the reason, the situation should be remedied. America could solve her problems, both social and political, by a nation-wide revival of true Christianity, with the accompanying salvation of thousands of unconverted. If we cannot have that, let us not fail to have a revival in our own hearts, our own churches, our neighborhoods or communities.

We find in our lesson that the church is

I. A Powerful Influence for Moral Good (Matt. 5:13-16).

Salt in the midst of corruption, light in a world of unbelievable darkness—what striking and meaningful figures with which to describe the Christian.

Believers are the "salt of the earth" because they draw their savor from God Himself. The Christian church, by God's own statement, is His own powerful antiseptic which preserves the social order from falling into the moral decay which sometimes seems imminent. It should, therefore, be honored and encouraged by that society which it serves.

Christians are the "light of the world," and it is the essential nature of light to shine. The darker its surroundings the more marked its brightness, and the more needed its illumination. The good works of Christians reflect the goodness of God, and so they glorify His worthy name. Brother, is your light burning brightly in this wicked world?

II. A Stabilizing Element in Society (Mark 12:13-17).

The world is in social ferment, and our own country has its share of "isms" and social theories calling men to follow, asking their loyalty, making them Utopian promises without foundation.

Alert and intelligent Americans are concerned about these clamorous voices, many of which are quite properly suspected of having purposes far from beneficial to our American way of life, or to democracy itself. Yet they dare not oppose them lest there be the cry of denial of freedom of speech, etc.

What can we do to meet them? Here is the answer: Preach Christ. Bring men to a saving knowledge of Him and to a godly way of living. For the Christian is directed by Christ Himself to "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's"—and they do it too, because they have first rendered "to God the things that are God's."

III. A Loyal Example of Good Citizenship (1 Pet. 2:13-17).

The highest measure of loyalty to country is the Christian standard here stated. In Romans 13:1-10 we learn that all authority comes from God and that the power of rulers is to be recognized as His gift. That means that true rulers will submit to Him in every detail of their government, seeking to know and to do His will.

However, the Christian gives loyal obedience to the "powers that be" even though they may not recognize the source of their power. This is subject only to the limitation that they may not demand that we do those things that dishonor God's name. Since their only real power to rule comes from Him, they have no authority to tell anyone to do that which is against His holy will. When that happens, the Higher Authority takes over and our loyalty must be to Him, the King of kings. The Christian then will be the best citizen, eager to do what king or country may ask, in order thus to bear a good testimony and to close the mouth of foolish critics of the church.

The history of our country and of other lands reveals the names of many illustrious Christian patriots, and the roll of honor of those who served their country well in the humble and difficult places, and bear its hundreds of thousands of names which are found also in the roll of the church.

Christians, let us be earnest and faithful followers of Christ, whose life and death for moral uprightness, "for God and Country" is the excellent example of the American Legion, and it should be more than that; it should be the purpose of every Christian citizen.

Defense Aid for India

To aid in the defense of India and to assist in the distribution of war materials to the United Nations in the Far East, an American Technical mission was sent to India in March, 1942, headed by Henry F. Grady. A new assembly plant has recently been built in India by the United States from which army automobiles are supplied to Russia. Several important recommendations of the Grady commission have already been implemented.

Electric saws, like other modern electric equipment, are important factors in the speed and efficiency with which the packing houses are supplying meat for our armed forces.

After bacon has been sliced into uniform strips by an automatic electric slicing machine, an electric conveyor carries the bacon to workers who weigh and pack it for shipment.

Wartime Meat Supply and Electric Power in Northern Illinois

Meat is fighting food. That's why millions of pounds must be produced each day to feed our men in armed forces and to meet the increasing need of our allies.

In answering the tremendous wartime demand for meat, the production methods developed through years of peace-time progress are proving highly efficient. Electric devices, for example, grind the feed, pump the water, and perform dozens of chores on the livestock farms of Northern Illinois.

And in the great packing houses, electric saws speed the cutting of meat...electric conveyors keep it moving quickly, and huge electric refrigerators preserve its purity and freshness until the moment of shipment.

Our employees realize that maintaining the flow of electricity for this purpose is as vital as providing power for the production of guns, tanks and ships.

Scrap Supply Increases 1,400,000 Tons in 7 Months; Still Short

The steel industry's stockpile of iron and steel scrap was increased by more than 1,400,000 tons between April 1 of this year and October 31, according to a report released today by the American Iron and Steel Institute. It still remains, however, nearly 700,000 tons short of the tonnage on hand at the beginning of 1941.

The nationwide drive for scrap from American farms, homes and industrial plants has undoubtedly been a factor in building up the steel industry's stocks of scrap. No figures are available, however, to show how much of the incoming scrap is traceable to the drive.

A total of 3,254,000 tons of scrap was in inventory at steel plants on October 31, which is equivalent to about 3 1/2 weeks' supply at the current rate of consumption.

That represented a considerable improvement over the situation on April 1, when only 1,794,000 tons of scrap were on hand at steel plants, representing a supply of about two weeks.

On January 1, 1941, steel plant stockpiles held 3,934,000 tons of scrap, about a six-weeks supply for the rate of consumption then current. At that time, the scrap situation was considered generally satisfactory.

Steel plants' ability to acquire adequate tonnages of scrap for remelting at a time when maximum steel production must be obtained for the war program has placed an added burden upon blast furnaces producing pig iron. Aside from scrap, pig iron is the only other major source of the metallic iron which is the primary raw material for steel.

In 1941, an average of 557 tons of pig iron was consumed per thousand tons of open hearth steel produced. In recent months, however, as much as 594 tons of pig iron have been used for each thousand tons of open hearth steel made.

Scrap consumption over the same period dropped from 523 to 496 tons per thousand tons of steel produced.

By changing melting practice in that way, and also by using a slightly greater proportion of iron ore in the open hearth charge, steel men have been able actually to produce more steel in 1942 than in 1941 despite the problem of scrap supply.

Mallards Plentiful on Upper Illinois River

Vast flocks of mallards are reported making their headquarters at Goose Lake, on the upper Illinois River between Bureau and Henry. It is estimated that there are more than a million ducks in these flocks.

Further down the river the mallards are said to be spreading out away from the river into sloughs and flooded bottom lands.

Large numbers of snow geese and blue geese were recently observed resting and feeding along the Illinois river between Peoria and Beardstown. These stately birds have their breeding grounds in Canada, and when going south in autumn usually fly at great heights, often not stopping at all in Illinois.
